

SONY, Department for Development

This is to offer you a co-operation in producing an apparatus that is designed to measure the psychic state or adequacy of people, inside the framework of biological rules and the new definition of psyche.

(<http://www.springerlink.com/content/r262508p06481056/?p=c4c4e9065ef0420fbb8f3c0336e01f4b&pi=13>) The apparatus could be used everywhere where human factor is involved (in situations where a deviation from normal psychic state and adequacy occurs) and that may result in mayor human casualties or big material costs. For example, in professions like: pilots, captains and also truck and bus drivers (possible use in cars is foreseen for the future).

The proposed use in medicine: to define a psychic sate in an objective manner and also to define the rate of the influence of pharmaceutical products and other methods of treatment (e.g. x-ray therapy) on that state.

The proposed use in pharmacy: on the basis of beforehand established standards, the coefficient of affection of pharmaceutical products upon the psychic state or adequacy can be defined.

Our company can provide you with the scientific arguments of the importance of this knowledge and the equipment on world level. (http://www.kotolupov.si/?page_id=50)

Practical function of the apparatus: the equipment is connected to the computer incorporated inside the means of transport. When it detects the unsuitable state of the driver, the computer automatically starts the procedure of stopping the vehicle (car, truck, bus). At the same time it sends a warning to the owner of the vehicle. When such a situation occurs in a plane and the apparatus detects the inadequacy of a pilot, it begins to signal the control tower, so that a safer landing is provided.

Sincerely,

Viktor Kotolupov
